

James Madison Bridgeforth Stadium/Zane Showker Field

Bridgeforth Stadium/Showker Field is a 15,000-seat facility. Built in 1975 and enlarged in 1981, it also contains racquetball courts and the Duke Club, Marketing & Promotions, Sports Media Relations, Men's and Women's Golf, Cross Country and Track Offices. Originally named JMU Stadium, it was renamed in 1990 for William E. Bridgeforth, former member of the JMU Board of Visitors, and in 2003 the field was named in honor of JMU benefactor Zane Showker. In 2004, the facility added a new scoreboard with video features and a new Field Turf in 2006.
